We may amend this notice from time to time to keep it up to date with legal requirements and the way we operate our business. Please regularly check these pages for the latest version of this notice. If we make significant changes to this privacy notice, we will seek to inform you by notice on our website or email ("Notice of Change").

You might find external links to third party websites on our platform. This privacy notice does not apply to your use of a third-party site.

Important information about John Deere:

The John Deere entity responsible for your personal information will be the entity that supports your Organization as set out above.

You can find out more about John Deere at www.deere.com or by contacting us using the information in the How to Contact Us section.

1. WHAT PERSONAL INFORMATION WE COLLECT AND WHEN AND WHY WE USE IT

In this section you can find out more about

- when we collect personal information;
- the types of personal information we collect;
- how we use personal information; and
- the legal basis for using personal information

When we collect information

In order to provide you with the Customer Organization service, we may process personal information about you.

We collect information about you if you:

- create and use a John Deere Customer Organization account
- subscribe to receiving marketing and other communications from us
- use our connected services

Please refer to our general Privacy Statement on our website www.deere.com for further information about how we process your personal information when you visit our website.

Personal information we collect and use

Your Organization enables you to store, manage, and share information from your operations. Customer Organization also provides you with a user account which can be used for the subscription to and/or the use of various other services, including connected services (such as our JDLink services) or tools (such as Operations Center) or applications (such as our mobile applications).

To be able to use the Customer Organization service and connected services, you will need to create a Customer Organization account by registering in accordance with and subject to entering into the John Deere Customer Organization Agreement.

The Customer Organization account requires certain personal information from users which is identified as mandatory and that you submit during the registration process, such as contact information (see below for list of information that we collect). You are under no obligation to provide this information but without this data you may not use the Customer Organization account. In addition, you can voluntarily add additional information to your Customer Organization account, such as information about your work and operations, in order to enhance your user experience and use of the Organization services and connected services.

We collect the following information when you create and use your Customer Organization account or use one of the connected services:

- basic identification relating to users, staff and partners with access or connections to your account (users' name and log in details);
- information about your work and operations, machines, devices, and licenses linked to your account:
  - data indicating the health of your machines- diagnostic codes and other data relating to efficiency and functions; machine settings; software and firmware versions; attachments and implements; machine hours and lifetime usage; and machine location;
  - information about the way you use your machines - operational setting, throughput, and sensor readings;
  - information about your work and operations - field task details; area worked; machine route; crop harvested and yield data; job results; number of acres and size and nature of fields; inputs applied; and historical information and reports.
- technical information that may also constitute personal information (your browser type, operating system, IP address, domain name, number of times you use your Organization account, and the amount of time you spent using your Organization account) may be collected via cookies and other tracking technologies (such as transparent GIF files). . Please see our cookies policy for further information on the cookies we collect.

Sensitive Personal Information

We do not process any "Special Category Personal Data" (information relating to such matters as racial or ethnic origin, religious beliefs, physical or mental health, trade union membership, sexual orientation, information regarding sexual life, biometric data used to identify an individual, genetic data).

The legal basis for using your personal information

2. SHARING PERSONAL INFORMATION

In this section you can find out more about how we share personal information:

- within John Deere
- with third parties that help us provide our products and services; and
- other third parties

Who do we share your information with?

We share your information in the manner and for the purposes described below:

- i. within John Deere, where such disclosure is necessary to provide you with our services or to manage our business;
- ii. with third party service providers (who will operate under our instructions set out in a written agreement with us) to assist us in providing information, products or services to you, in conducting and managing our business, or in managing and improving our products or services. We share your personal information with these affiliates and third parties to perform services, subject to appropriate contractual restrictions and security measures. These include IT service providers who help manage our IT and back office systems and machine services, including internet and software services: data hosting, data conversion, and cloud computing capabilities, account management and security, testing, debugging, error reporting, and usage analytics, as well as mobile telecommunication providers.
- iii. with regulators, to comply with all applicable laws, regulations and rules, and requests of law enforcement, regulatory and other governmental agencies.
- iv. with John Deere Dealers authorized from your Organization so that they can support you. They may use your personal information in the ways set out in “How we use your personal information” in Section 1 above or relating to products and services that complement our own range of products and services. These services may be subject to separate terms and conditions and privacy policies.
- v. we may share in aggregate, statistical form, non-personal information regarding, traffic patterns, and Customer Organization usage with our partner], affiliates or advertisers.
- vi. If, in the future, we sell or transfer some or all of our business or assets to a third party, we may disclose information to a potential or actual third party purchaser of our business or assets.

If you are resident in Mexico, we shall not, without your prior consent, disclose your personal information to third parties, domestic or foreign unless: (a) it is required by law or judicial requirement; (b) it is made to holding companies, subsidiaries or affiliates under the common control of John Deere, or to a parent company or to any company of the same group as John Deere who operates under the same internal processes and policies (c) it is necessary by virtue of a contract executed or to be executed with you, by us or a third party; or (d) to protect any rights or assets of John Deere or its clients. We have required or shall require our contractors, subcontractors and providers to agree to use your personal information exclusively for undertaking the activities for which they were procured.

3. TRANSFERRING PERSONAL INFORMATION GLOBALLY

In this section you can find out more about:

- how we operate as a global business and transfer data internationally.
- the arrangements we have in place to protect your personal information.

John Deere operates on a global basis. Accordingly, your personal information may be transferred and stored in countries around the world, including the EU, the United States of America, Brazil, and other countries where John Deere has offices or authorized dealers, that are subject to different standards of data protection. When we transfer your personal information to other countries, we will protect that information as described in this Privacy Notice or as disclosed to you at the time of data collection.

John Deere will take appropriate steps to ensure that transfers of personal information are in accordance with applicable law and carefully managed to protect your privacy rights and interests. We have established and implemented a set of Binding Corporate Rules (“BCRs”) that have been recognised by EU data protection authorities as providing an adequate level of protection to the personal information we process globally. A copy of our BCRs are available at www.deere.com.

Where we transfer your personal information outside John Deere or to third parties who help provide our products and services, we obtain contractual commitments from them to protect your personal information. Some of these assurances are well recognized certification schemes, for example, the EU - US Privacy Shield for the protection of personal information transferred from within the EU to the United States or contractual commitments such as EU Standard Contractual Clauses.

Where we transfer your special personal information to other John Deere entities or third parties located in countries that do not have adequate levels of data protection law, prior authorization from the relevant data protection authorities will be obtained, where necessary.

Where we receive requests for information from law enforcement or regulators, we carefully validate these requests before any personal information are disclosed.

You have a right to contact us for more information about the safeguards we have put in place (including a copy of relevant contractual commitments) to ensure the adequate protection of your personal information when this is transferred as mentioned above.

4. EXPLAINING MORE ABOUT DIRECT MARKETING

In this section you can find out more about

- how we use personal information to keep you up to date with our products and services.
- how you can manage your marketing preferences
- when and how we undertake profiling and analytics

How we use personal information to keep you up to date with our products and services

We may use personal information to let you know about John Deere products and services that we believe will be of interest to you. We may contact you by email, post, or telephone or through other communication channels that we think you may find helpful. In all cases, we will respect your preferences for how you would like us to manage marketing activity with you.

Where you have provided your consent, we may share your data with John Deere dealers so they can market products and services to you, targeting offerings to match your activity.

How you can manage your marketing preferences

To protect privacy rights and to ensure you have control over how we manage marketing with you:

- we will take steps to limit direct marketing to a reasonable and proportionate level and only send you communications which we believe may be of interest or relevance to you;
- you can ask us to stop direct marketing at any time - you can ask us to stop sending email marketing, by following the 'unsubscribe' link you will find on all the email marketing messages we send you. Alternatively, you can contact us at privacymanager@JohnDeere.com. Please specify whether you would like us to stop all forms of marketing or just a particular type (e.g. email); and
- you can change the way your browser manages cookies, which may be used to deliver online advertising, by following the settings on your browser as explained in [our cookies policy]

When and how we undertake profiling and analytics

Please refer to our cookie policy to find out more about the information we collect using cookies and tracking technologies.

5. HOW WE PROTECT AND STORE YOUR INFORMATION

Security

We have implemented and maintain appropriate technical and organisational security measures, policies and procedures designed to reduce the risk of accidental destruction or loss, or the unauthorised disclosure or access to such information appropriate to the nature of the information concerned. Measures we take include placing confidentiality requirements on our staff members and service providers; and destroying or permanently anonymising personal information if it is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected. As the security of information depends in part on the security of the computer you use to communicate with us and the security you use to protect user IDs and passwords please take appropriate measures to protect this information.

Storing your personal information

We store most information about you in computer systems and databases operated by either us or our external service providers. Some information about you is recorded in paper files that we store securely.

We will store your personal information for as long as is reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, as explained in this notice. In some circumstances we may store your personal information for longer periods of time, for instance where we are required to do so in accordance with legal, regulatory, tax, accounting requirements. In specific circumstances we may store your personal information for longer periods of time so that we have an accurate record of your dealings with us in the event of any complaints or challenges, or if we reasonably believe there is a prospect of litigation relating to your personal information or dealings.

6. LEGAL RIGHTS AVAILABLE TO HELP MANAGE YOUR PRIVACY

Subject to certain exemptions and depending on your location, and in some cases dependent upon the processing activity we are undertaking, you have certain rights in relation to your personal information.

If you wish to access, correct, update or request deletion of your personal information, you can do so at any time by contacting us using the contact details provided at Section 7 ('How to Contact Us') below.

In addition, you can object to processing of your personal information, ask us to restrict processing of your personal information or, if you are a resident of the European Union, request portability of your personal information. Again, you can exercise these rights by contacting us using the contact details provided at Section 7 ('How to Contact Us') below.

If we have collected and processed your personal information with your consent, then you can withdraw your consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent will not affect the lawfulness of any processing we conducted prior to your withdrawal, nor will it affect processing of your personal information conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.

You have a right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority if you have concerns about how we are processing your personal information. We ask that you please attempt to resolve any issues with us first, although you have a right to contact your supervisory authority at any time.

We respond to all requests we receive from individuals wishing to exercise their data protection rights in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

We may ask you for additional information to confirm your identity and for security purposes, before disclosing the personal information requested to you. In accordance with applicable law, we reserve the right to charge a fee where permitted by law, for instance if your request is manifestly unfounded or excessive.

You can exercise your rights by contacting us. Subject to legal and other permissible considerations, we will make every reasonable effort to honour your request promptly or inform you if we require further information in order to fulfil your request.

We may not always be able to fully address your request, for example, if it would impact the duty of confidentiality we owe to others, or if we are legally entitled to deal with the request in a different way.

7. CHILDREN'S DATA

Our Services are not directed to children or adolescents and we do not knowingly collect any personal information directly from children under 16. If you believe that we are processing information pertaining to a child inappropriately, please contact us using the information provided under the 'How to Contact Us' section below so that we may investigate and restrict the data.
