

A close-up, low-angle shot of a yellow tracked excavator's bucket as it dumps a large load of dark brown soil and rocks. The bucket is tilted, and a thick, billowing cloud of dust and debris erupts from the falling material, partially obscuring the excavator's body on the right. The background shows a vast, flat, open landscape under a cloudy sky. The excavator's tracks and the side of its cab are visible on the right side of the frame.

PLUS QUE DU MUSCLE.